ADR Experience: I have participated in the mediation program in this district since the conception. First, I participated as a family law attorney in the mediation process and later as a trained mediator conducting mediations. Following my training I conducted mediations in family law, in construction disputes, personal injury matters and in cases in which domestic violence is an issue. Since my arbitration training, I have arbitrated professional partnership dissolution to a successful resolution.

Professional Experience: I had a general law practice with a concentration in family law for over twenty years in the Griffin Judicial Circuit participating in numerous temporary hearings and bench and jury trials. My jury trials included not only family law issues, but also construction and damages issues as well.

Education: In 1981 I received an associate degree from Clayton Junior College and in 1983 I received my B.A. from Georgia State University. In 1986, I graduated from the Emory University law school.

ADR Experience: Megan became a registered neutral in law school and mediated hundreds of landlord-tenant and small claims cases in Fulton County within the court-annexed mediation program. She continued to mediate part-time while working as a litigator. In 2012, she formed her own full-time mediation practice, Two Roads Mediations, LLC, and has been added to the rosters in DeKalb, Gwinnett, Fulton (Magistrate) and Cobb (Magistrate). She also offers private mediations to parties outside the court-annexed programs.

Professional Experience: Prior to law school, Megan worked as a bank manager for a large financial institution. During law school, she started working in the insurance industry. A clerkship with an insurance company allowed her to easily transition into insurance litigation post-graduation. Megan has experience with both liability work and first-party property cases. She is knowledgeable about insurance concepts, including coverage defenses and bad faith allegations. After working in insurance defense for a number of years, Megan left her firm to start her own mediation business, Two Roads Mediation, LLC. She continues to gain additional information of various areas of law through part-time contract work as an attorney, such as workers' compensation and wills, trusts, and estates.

ADR Experience:

Since 1995, I have mediated hundreds of cases, over 85% of which have resulted in a settlement. Most of them have been commercial and business cases and many have involved complex, multi-party disputes, the largest of which involved over 200 parties. Since the mid-1980's, I have served as an arbitrator in approximately 50 cases. In all but a few of these, I served as chairperson and conducted and participated in various types of pre-hearing conferences, issued discovery, non-dispositive and dispositive rulings, and held arbitration hearings that have resulted in final awards being issued. I am a member of a number of various panels of mediators and arbitrators. For additional information, please go to www.lightmasanddelk.com

Professional Experience:

I have been a trial lawyer and commercial and business litigator for over 35 years and have tried jury and non-jury cases in federal and state courts, before a number of different arbitration panels, federal and state agencies, and federal, state and professional licensing, enforcement, regulatory and disciplinary boards. Most of the cases have involved business and commercial disputes. Since 1990, I have been a partner in Lightmas & Delk, and prior to that, I was a partner in the Atlanta law firm then known as Huie, Ware, Sterne, Brown & Ide which merged to form Kutak Rock & Huie (now Kutak Rock).

ADR Experience: George C. Reid has experience in the following areas of Civil Law: appellate, commercial/business, condominiums, construction, contract disputes, eminent domain, engineering, environmental, insurance, land use/planning, local government, probate, professional fees, professional negligence, public policy and real estate

Professional Experience: For more than thirty years, Mr. George Reid's practice has focused on the litigation, arbitration and mediation of complex construction disputes. He also has extensive experience in the negotiation and drafting of construction and other procurement contracts including engineering agreements, architectural service agreements, general contracts, subcontracts, construction management agreements, cable television service contracts and equipment purchase agreements. This construction claims and contracting experience has related to a wide variety of commercial projects including high-rise office structures, hospitals, hotels, shopping centers, wastewater treatment plants, industrial buildings, hydroelectric plants, and sports arenas. He also has extensive experience with both single-family and multi-family residential projects.

George has successfully mediated disputes for more than ten years, and has actively served as an arbitrator for more than twenty years. His mediation practice has encompassed disputes by and between owners, real estate developers, contractors, subcontractors, sureties, architects, engineers, insurance companies, local governing authorities and others. As a pro-active mediator with the benefit of wide construction experience, he has an excellent record of helping parties resolve disputes. Additionally, as an arbitrator George has served individually, and as a panel member, on both large and complex cases, as well as on small fast-track cases, involving virtually every type of construction project. This arbitration experience also provides unique insight which is often helpful in the mediation process.
